Any way you look at it, today's District baseball series games are bing to be well worth watching. The Capital Publishers and War Risk, leaders in section one, are hooked up at American League Park. At the Union League Park stand the Clarendon Athletic Club and Rex Athletic Club teams are booked.

The fans will probably set the stamp of approval on the Union League Park game because it is the home field of the Rex players. Clarendon has gained a lively following which regards the teams as the dark horse of the series.

Managers will be notified to day of the meeting set for tomorrow night postponed games and the tie contest will be taken up. It is probable that these games will be runin as double headers just after the section I games are finished, as the second section runs six days longer than the first.

President R. E. Doyle will issue the call today and the managers of the nine teams will get together. Cappubs want to use two players more as the

A Mere Difference. Attention is being called to the ifference between the fighting on the field between the Red Sox and Cubs, showing that both teams are in deadly earnest, and the action of Fan Johnson, former czar of baseball and still president of the American League, in withholding his decision Cleveland Club of playing the last two games in St. Louis on Labor Day.

There is no doubt about the playing on the field at Comiskey Park, Chicago, and Fenway Park, Boston. The athletes coldly grasping as they have been all along, are showing a real desire for victory, thus sending baseball out with a clean record.

BARROW COUNTS SERIES ALREADY WON FROM CUBS

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 10 .- Ed Barrow, manager of the Red Sox, is claiming another world's title today. "It'll be all over by nightfall, and we will have the old series tucked safely away," says Barrow. "I'll send Sam Jones against the Cubs today, and I'm betting he will win in a walk."

With three wins in and but one more necessary out of three games possible if they lose today, the Red Sox appear to be sure winners. Yesterday's 3 to 2 win gave the Red Sox the deciding edge. Hendrix will be the probable choice of the Cubs as hurling material in today's contest

In the fourth with two men on Ruth poled a triple. Flack was playing a bit too close, and Ruth's long fly to right went for three sacks. Tyler deserved to win his game as he allowed the Red Sox, but four hits during the seven innings in which he performed.

In the eighth when the bombardment of Cub hits was too strong Ruth was shunted into left field. McInnis saved the day with a great play in coming in on Wortman and, with two on at the time, getting Merkle at third by yards.

The Cubs started the eighth nicely with a walk. Killifer took second when Hendrix, batting for Tyler, singled into left. On a wild heave Killifer went to third and Hendrix to second. McInnis touched out
